Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

Please to apply at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1819.

The following satisfactory information of the manner in which, in the last hours of his life, the late Commodore PERRY discharged the duties confided to him by his government, is from the Aurora—which is the channel through which the news from Venezuela and New Grenada has generally reached us.

"We learn from Angostura, that the young hero whom this nation has lost, and whom all deplore, was received at Angostura with the same respect and distinction which he merited in his own country; and it is gratfeul to learn, when flattery or praise can no longer be attributed to any emotion but that of the satisfaction which arises from doing honor to him who so richly merited it—we feel particular pleasure in stating that his conduct there, in the fulfilment of the duties upon which he was sent, was such as to obtain for him the regard and esteem of all with whom he had intercourse.

"It was apprehended, on his arrival, that there was something hostile in his mission, but the good sense and liberality of the young hero appears to have not only removed that impression, but removed much of the disquietude which had arisen out of former transactions; and he left in Angostura an impression of returning good will and esteem, which must grow with more extensive intercourse; for, whatever the sordid and envious policy of the European states may do to produce enmity between the republics of the new world, the voice of reason and every day's experience will more and more demonstrate, that the laws of nature, and the best interests of mankind, render the two sections of this great continent necessary to their reciprocal prosperity and security against the avidity of the old world, and of institutions adverse to human freedom."

A curious case of fraud has occurred lately in this city, which has been much talked of in the commercial circles, and may probably, hereafter furnish an intricate subject of legal investigation. The confidential clerk of a merchant who was entrusted with nearly the sole management of his concerns, had repeatedly laid before him letters from correspondents in the country, announcing the intention of drawing for certain bills; the bills were afterwards produced in due course, and accepted by the merchant; the clerk discounted them, and applied the money to his own use. Several of these bills were presented for payment, and duly honored, before the discovery was made that the bills and letters were all forgeries. The question discussed is, whether the merchant is bound to pay the remaining bills which, though forgeries in the drawing, were all regularly accepted by himself. The payment, we understand, is likely to be resisted, and the matter will probably be referred to the courts of law — The extent of the fraud is little short of 10,000*l.* [London paper.

From the American Journal, August 25.

SCIENTIFIC.

Mr. Joseph Hawkins announces in the Pougkeepsie Observer, that he has made the important discovery of a fixed principle of ascertaining longitude with as much certainty as latitude. He observes, "It would be out of the power of man to reduce this principle to practical use, without the agency of some of the heavenly bodies. To effect this object, I draw a direct line from the polar star across the surface of our revolving globe—that star, it is well known, is a fixture to us. I form an angle with the sun across this line, then take its altitude, so as to be certain from an exact meridian. At nine, ante meridian, I compare it with my polar line, which we fix on any given latitude, as a data for our departure, making either easting or westing from this line, by taking our observation at the sun's meridian, the succeeding day, if the weather will admit of it. Whatever variations may be found from the polar line, from getting the sun at meridian, either earlier or later, from the calculation of this observation it will give us the longitude to a certainty. This has been submitted to old and experienced navigators, who agree with me in opinion, that the longitude upon this principle can be as easily obtained as the latitude, and with as much correctness."

On a review of the Prussian army by the king, there happened to be a French soldier who could not speak the Prussian language. His platoon officer told him the king would first ask him, how old he was? to which he must reply (in Prussian) 30—how long he had been in the service? 6 months—if he liked his pay and rations? both. The king happening to change his mode of interrogation, first asked,—how many years have you been in the service? 30.—how old are you? six months.—Are you a d—d fool, or I? both.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 16.

MAIL ROBBERY.

Mr. Ezra Allmong, of Salisbury, (North Carolina) advertises in a Raleigh paper, that on the 10th of August, he forwarded to his friend in Philadelphia, J. Patton, jun. Esq. the halves of different Bank Notes, amounting in all to upwards of two thousand dollars. On the 16th he forwarded the other halves. The last have reached this city—the former (enclosed first,) were not received. He therefore concludes that the mail was robbed of them. [Union.

Transmitting the halves of bank notes by mail is very common. In the above case, this method was the means of preserving the amount to the owner. United States' paper, in preference to any other, is procured for this purpose; and we cannot but view with regret the determination of that bank to refuse to redeem the halves of its notes which may be presented after the 1st of November next. The bank assigns as a reason for this step, the liability to imposition and fraudulent practices to which such payments are exposed—from which the bank is advised it cannot be protected by any evidence that may accompany such claim, or any security that may be given to indemnify it.

The New-York and Richmond theatres have opened within the last week. King Henry IV. was performed in New-York on the 12th, and in Richmond on the 13th. In the former, Hotspur Mr. May wood, Falstaff Mr. Bartley; in the latter, Hotspur Mr. Pritchard, (from the New-York theatre) Falstaff Mr. Hilson.

PHENOMENON—AURORA'S BOW.

At half past 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening, 11th inst. was observed in this city one of the most sublime and beautiful appearances ever witnessed in Philadelphia. A silver bow stretched from west-north-west to east-south-east, filling the whole arch of the Heavens, with its base resting on the eastern and western horizon.

This beautiful arch is what some would call a lunar bow, but we presume it was produced by the northern light, or Aurora Borealis shining upon a dark cloud to the north, and which, at the time, must have discharged some rain.—Thus by the reflection of light the bow was produced to an observer in this place. It was visible eight or ten minutes. [Poulson's Adv.

The same appearance was visible in Alexandria, and attracted the notice and admiration of most of our citizens. To them the interesting explanation, from the Advertiser, will be very acceptable.

Rye coffee is advertised for sale in Philadelphia at 8 cents per pound. The New-York Daily Advertiser believes it would pay the manufacturer a handsome profit. We know that it is used by several families in this town, who agree in recommending it as an excellent and cheap beverage. The following is the recipe:—

Put a quantity of rye into warm water, rub it well through the hands, then rinse it well in clean cold water, dry it, and then burn and grind it in the usual method.

We observe a mistake in the Baltimore Telegraph, which may spread further if it be not corrected, respecting the time of the meeting of the Congress. It is to meet at the constitutional period, the first Monday in December; and not on the third Monday in November, as stated. [Nat. Int.

The statement we copied from a New-York paper, that, previous to the departure of Mr. Fenwick, "the Grand Council of Castile had assembled, and decided not to ratify the Treaty with America, and a courier was immediately dispatched to the Spanish ambassador in London," is calculated, we understand to produce an erroneous impression, though certainly not intended.—The time for the ratification of the Treaty expired without its ratification. The Grand Council had assembled, not to deliberate probably on the subject of the Treaty, but on other matters. Nothing had transpired respecting its resolves except that "a courier was immediately dispatched to the Spanish Ambassador in London." [Ibid.

The question about Don Luis de Onis's disgrace, so long in suspense, is settled by the arrival of Mr Fenwick. M. de Onis was at Madrid, and was in high favor with the government. [Ibid.

An article in one of our late French papers states, that the number of suicides which have been committed or attempted, during the first six months of the present year, at Paris and its environs, have been greatly exaggerated by some of the journals. On examination it appears that of 199 suicides and attempts at suicides, during the last six months, 137 have been committed by men, and 62 by women. 102 of this number were married persons, and 97 single. 17 were committed on account of love; 65 on account of disease, disgust with life, phrenzy, and domestic troubles; 28 through bad conduct, gambling and lotteries; 47 on account of misery, poverty and misfortune in business; 6 through the fear of reproach and punishment; 36 for unknown motives.—Total 190, of which 146 were effected.

[N. Y. E. Post.

Mr. George Brown, of Chester District, in this state, was most cruelly murdered on the 27th ult. at his own door, by two villains, who cut his throat until his head was nearly severed from his body. [Charl. Times.

From the Baltimore Federal Gazette, Oct. 12.

By the report of the District Medical Society, which we publish to-day, it will be seen that the Physicians no longer entertain apprehensions that the malignant fever will extend its ravages into the western parts of our city. We again offer our congratulations to our fellow citizens upon the prospect of returning health, and solicit the attention of such of them as have removed from Fell's Point, to the subjoined report of the Board of Health. We merely remark as a caution to those who would wilfully run into danger, that a physician reports two new cases of malignant fever, for the last 24 hours, of persons who had removed from Fell's Point in the early part of the season to avoid the infection, but whose anxiety to return to their homes, had induced them incautiously to risk their lives, and it is feared they will fall victims to their imprudence.

Health Office, Baltimore Oct. 12.

The Board of Health earnestly request their fellow citizens who have removed into the country from Fell's Point, on account of the prevailing fever, to delay their return a few days; and in the mean time, to furnish the key of their respective dwellings—and, if convenient, a personal interview with some of the members of the board. By order.

It is worthy of remark, that the steam-boat MANHATTAN, of nearly 500 tons burthen, is at this moment taking in freight and passengers for New-Orleans. The superior power of her machinery has been satisfactorily proved, and no anxiety is entertained as to her success in ascending the Mississippi to New-Orleans, Louisville, &c. This novel and yet splendid undertaking cannot fail to excite the attention of those who have commercial operations in that rich and growing country.

[New-York Gazette.

A London paper states, that the mint coinage is performed with uncommon rapidity; a press produced 3,600 pieces per hour, which for ten working hours makes 36,000; of course the eight presses, (the number employed) strike off 288,000 pieces daily, in shillings or sixpences, as may be required, in a finished state.

PIRATES CAPTURED.

By the brig Emma, at N. York, a New-Orleans paper of the 15th September, is received, which contains intelligence of the capture of a pirate, and her prize, on the 29th of August. The U. States revenue cutters Louisiana, Captain Loomis, and Alabama, (lately built at N. York,) while off the Dry Tortugas, fell in with an American schooner bound from N. Orleans, on board of which were a number of Spanish ladies and gentlemen, who had been passengers in the Philomena, a Spanish schooner, captured by a pirate, who had placed them in the American schooner. From their information it was judged that the pirate could not be far off; and the captains of the cutters determined to look out for her. Eight hours afterward they espied two sail, one of which stood for them; when within hail she was ordered to send her boat on board, which was answered with a volley of musketry. But the pirate was soon silenced, and taken possession of. She proved to be the Brave, carrying two guns, manned by twenty-four renegadoes, commanded by a person who calls himself Le Fage, fitted out at N. Orleans.—The prize Philomena, which had been about a mile astern, during the action, was soon overhauled and recaptured. All the five vessels came into New-Orleans on the 14th September.

In the action, which lasted but a few minutes, the Alabama had four men wounded; two of which, including the first lieutenant, dangerously. The Brave lost six of her crew killed; the remainder are in safe keeping in the N. Orleans prison. All the Spanish prisoners were liberated. Mr. Le Fage sailed under a printed commission, without date, however, signed "HUMBERT, Governor of Texas." [Philadelphia Union.

A letter from Cape de Verd Islands, received in Boston, states that the late expedition into the interior of Africa have reached Honsa, within 250 miles of Tombuctoo. It is now reduced to a certainty that the celebrated Mungo Park, who undertook to explore the interior of Africa, is no more; that he died in a town near Tombuctoo. Accounts from the Gambia, Mediterranean and England, all confirm his death.

DANCING.

Some days ago, we published an advertisement from a Philadelphia dancing master, in which he very modestly recommended himself for the airs and graces, and his peculiar acquirements in the "executive" departments. We did not notice this advertisement because we have any enmity to dancing—on the contrary, we consider it, in a great measure, an indispensable accomplishment; but we made the extract to exhibit the system of puffing now assumed in ordinary occupations, and the "pomp, pride and circumstance" with which these every day acquirements are ushered to the world.—We have before us another dancing advertisement from Philadelphia, every way superior to the former—here it is:

NEW DANCING SCHOOL.

"B. August, recently arrived in this city from Paris, has the honor of announcing to the ladies and gentlemen of Philadelphia, that it is his intention, on the 7th of October, to open his school for the admission of pupils and instructing them in the various styles of elegant dancing. He flatters himself that, from the extensive and perfect knowledge he has acquired of the profession, under the most eminent professors in Paris, his method and unremitted attention to the elegant deportment of his pupils, so essentially necessary to form the manners of a lady and gentleman, will deserve the approbation of those who may be pleased to honor him with a preference.

"Parents and heads of seminaries are invited to give their children and pupils this necessary part of genteel education, which removes awkward habits acquired in childhood, gives ease to action, and a cheerful air. The graces give those easy manners, that elegance in attitude, and that noble deportment which characterize and distinguish persons of refined education. You ladies, who possess so fine a taste for accomplishments, three months of instruction in dancing, and one month for the attainment of the graces, will suffice to improve those inestimable gifts you inherit from nature, and elevate the lustre of your charms. And you, young gentlemen, take lessons on the graces one month—it will give perfection to the good education you have received, and the fair sex will then be able to discover your progress in this art, and you will become their worthy chevalier. In fact, is it not becoming even in a minister to appear graceful in a pulpit; a lawyer in his pleadings; and an actor on the stage without this requisite, would appear to disadvantage. There should be a certain gracefulness in every thing, and persons in every station ought to possess it. And you, also, friendly Quakers, whose moral habits are so well known and approved by all nations, bring your wives and children to my balls; there you will be enabled to judge the manner of instruction, and when you behold the easy and polished manners that are imparted to the pupils, I am assured that, notwithstanding your becoming reservedness, you will, like the respectable Arch-Bishop of Paris, (the Rt. Reverend Debelley) say, "I do not see any harm in this ball—it looks more like a family united together, than like a public ball."

"It might here be mentioned, with regard to the utility and necessity of dancing, that in all countries doctors recommend it as a very salutary exercise, and that most respectable families and boarding schools have dancing masters to attend them."

'Policies were this morning opened on the Royal Exchange to receive one hundred pounds on paying twenty pounds, if war is declared between Spain and the U. States, on or before this day two months.'

The above is policying with a vengeance, and we think offers as fair a chance to burn fingers of speculators as we have ever met with. A declaration of war coming from Spain is wholly out of the question. The congress of the United States do not assemble until some time in the ensuing month, and as they alone possess the power of declaring war, the sixty days limited above must expire before they meet.

Dublin, Sept. 3.—The Duke of Wellington Packet proceeded on her voyage from Liverpool to this port, on Saturday last in the afternoon, full of passengers, and between three and four hundred of the lower orders of working laborers on the deck and in the hold. On Monday night last, when off the Kish Light, a sudden squall came on, which threw her on her beam ends, when a scene of confusion ensued, which baffles all description, the skylights and hatchway being off, the water rushed in torrents to the cabin and hold—in the latter of which were two horses, who became unmanageable, one of which the people in the hold were obliged to put to death in their own defence, and the other was so cut and hacked, that he is past recovery. Many people were washed off the deck, some of whom were unfortunately drowned, and a few smothered in the bold, and the boat which hung at the stern, containing a few of those unfortunate people, was washed away with all it contained—luckily the greater part were saved, but two fine children sunk to rise no more, whose mother, with her infant in her arms, was along with them in the boat when she was washed away, was saved by the presence of mind of some of the passengers, and now survives to mourn her loss. After undergoing unparallelled hardships the vessel (not being able to make Dublin the wind being so averse) bore away for Holyhead, where she arrived on Tuesday. It is supposed there were 12 or 15 lives altogether lost, but the exact number cannot be ascertained.

DIVORCES.

From an excellent piece in the National Intelligencer, (the whole of which is too long for our paper,) we extract the following judicious and pertinent observations—which though calculated for the meridian of Maryland, will answer, without essential variation for that of New-Jersey.

[True American.

"An opinion, a conviction of the dissoluble nature of the marriage bond is a necessary curb, an useful counterpoise to that proneness to change and novelty, too inherent in the imperfect nature of man.

"Is it not the wiser and safer course to let a few individuals suffer under the chagrins incident to the conjugal state than to hazard the opening of the flood-gates to depravity? Take mankind such as they are, and hold out the prospect that the marriage bond may be severed in consequence of one's own acts, and experience teaches that it will give birth to a spirit of restlessness in the conjugal state, that never would have been generated without that prospect held out.—Make cruelty a cause for the absolute divorce, and it is to be feared that cruelties will multiply: collisions will be resorted to, to impose upon and obtain this end, when denied by both the parties. An attempt to cure the evils incident to the conjugal state by opening the door for absolute divorce is like casting oil upon the conflagration: it infallibly encreases the evil intended to be remedied. remedied. The exp nce of the state of Maryland itself proves the truth of this: annually there is a progressive increase of applications for divorce, and the facility with which they have been granted seems to make marriages dissolvable at the will and pleasure of the parties, and almost at pleasure of one of the parties. They are rarely refused if any genteel interest is exerted in their favor; they are often granted upon nothing but exparte representations, unaccompanied with any thing like the shadow of what can be called legal testimony of the facts alleged; sometimes upon the simple allegation of incompatibility of tempers, (or what in substance amounts to no more,) as they were granted by civil magistrates in France during the phrenzy of the revolution. The Congress of the United States, having exclusive legislative jurisdiction over the District of Columbia, have set their faces against the application for divorce made to them; the consequence is, that a party in the District, wishing for a divorce, comes across the line, into Maryland, pays board at some house for a month or two, for which a receipt is sent to the legislature of Maryland, as evidence of their residence in Maryland, and the application is granted. Judging from the past, the causes for divorce seem to be unlimited. There is no rule upon the subject promulgated to the citizens. The rule is locked up in the breast of a legislature, ever varying in its component parts, and the divorce is granted or refused at its momentary and arbitrary will and pleasure. It is time for this state of things to cease: it is time to oppose some barriers to this too great facility of divorce, or judging from the rapid strides a laxity of principles has already made, we may soon expect scenes that will cast opprobium upon the marriage state, and sully the dignity of the most sacred and honorable of human engagements.—Have we not already seen the new marriage of a divorced party take place under the very eyes of the legislature, as it were, almost before the ink was dry that endorsed the passage of the divorcing bill?

"It is but too true, that the marriage bond, destined to form the sweetest charm of human life, often fills it with bitterness and woe. It must be confessed, that man is too weak, too imperfect, too changeable, or that the laws which govern him can always remain inflexible. In all times the torrent of morals forces on the laws: necessarily they must follow man in his starts and wanderings, with the hope of reclaiming him. What law ought somewhat to relax from its rigor, and suffer temperaments, and exceptions, more than that which imposes a yoke for life upon two unequal beings the one of whom has in his favor, strength and authority, which he may abuse against the weakness of the other? Ought not the unfortunate victim to be lamented and succored, who instead of finding a friend in a husband finds only an odious tyrant, whose angry transports threaten every moment of her life; or who, by a slow and meditated cruelty, makes of her life a torture more frightful than death? So long as man may deceive himself, may change in his temper and habits, and grow corrupt; so long as a thousand interests, all different from moral love and esteem, may determine to matrimonal union; so long as the authority of parents may cross the choice of the heart, may chain virtue to vice, may bind together incompatible humors and characters; thus long it will be not only just, it will be necessary, not to reject the complaints of the oppressed—to lend attention to the recital of her woes; and if they are found grave, if they revolt humanity, to wrest her from the power of her oppressor. To leave her forever in the grievous subjection to an unfeeling tyrant, would be a rigor insulting to humanity—would be crushing oppressed innocence—would change grief into despair.

"But neither should light causes suffice to slacken the nuptial band even to authorize the judgment of separation of bodies and goods. There ought to be weighty causes; excesses that revolt, misfortunes that there is ground to dread and which it is essential to the order of society to prevent. If the husband has insulted by his licentiousness under the very eyes, as it were, of his wife; if he has beaten her as a slave; if he has publickly defamed her character in an important point; if he has an odious and disgusting habitude of intemperance that continually rends the heart, that unceasingly causes the eye of meekness to overflow, and threatens family penury and beggary—these are causes that do occur; these are causes sufficient to alarm and interest society, and loudly call for a system of legal regulations to succor the victim; for it then becomes time to withdraw her from the turpitude and furies of an unprincipled tyrant.—Let the tribunals be invested with an almost unlimited discretion in the separation of the property, and one example of some rigor towards the depraved would be of some efficacy in society.

"It would rarely happen that he might not make his peace, and be substantially reinstated, upon satisfactory evidence of returning reason and virtue. But, in such cases of depravity, totally to rend asunder the nuptial band, as in the annulling system—to leave him free, with all his advantages of fortune, to prowl again in society for fresh victims, would be nothing less than giving a premium to depravity—that reward to vice, which perhaps had been the main spring of its action; to approve the violation of civil and moral obligation, instead of punishing it. If such courses of procedure as the annulling system fail sooner or later to demoralize a people, all history must be fable. What must be the feelings of a youth of sensibility, arrived to the period of reason and reflection, to find his mother and father, the wife and husband of different persons? Mortification and shame must overwhelm him, unless the generality of the case may keep him in countenance. And what the feelings of the second lot of offspring of one of these ruptured marriages, at the dishonor in which they find themselves born? It behoves legislators to respect the feelings and guard the honor of the unborn generations; to take care, so far as in them lies, that the coming generations be born in honor."

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.

June 11 tf

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington, Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria, Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria, Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.
